

Waiver and Limitations of Liability

LaserPlans USA offers a service to produce architectural and engineering materials showing the true status of a site prepared from an extraction, within scanning limits and extraction tolerances, from three dimensional laser scan data. Our policy prohibits the inclusion in materials of representations, extrapolations, and reconstructions of objects that might exist if the scan data is not available. You requested that we reconstruct the following object (see below), and include it in the model.

Please note, competent scan data does not exist for this object due to obstructions and items placed upon, over and around it. In providing you this object, now shown in the site model, therefore, we hereby withdraw all model assurances for this object, and do not accept any liability for any errors or omissions in the shape, position, accuracy, measurements, or otherwise of the object in question.
